Hi First Name!

Insurance companies that work with individuals offer policies that protect them and their families from financial losses due to events like accidents, illnesses or property damage.

Just try to think about what the world would be like if there was no such thing as insurance! If a tree falls on your house during a storm, it could cost $100,000 or more to remove the tree and repair your home. Or, what if you were involved in an auto accident and you had to pay to repair your car and the car of the other driver? You get the idea.

Insurance companies are able to pay for the repairs to your house or car because they collect what are known as premium payments from all of their customers. Most people will never have a tree fall on their house, so their premium payments help cover the expense of those who do.

Whether you're wanting to insure your home, your car, your health, your business, or virtually anything else, there are insurance companies willing to compete for your business!
